ADDITIONAL INFORMATION ABOUT GCD KENYA as taken from their web-site at <https://www.greatcommunitydevelopment.org>

Great Community Development Kenya generates positive action and sustainable advancement to empower children in impoverished regions of the world by providing shelter, promoting good health, offering access to education and giving at risk children tools and opportunities for a successful, independent, and fulfilling life. Great Development Kenya is a non-profit organization that is dedicated to improving the lives of the most vulnerable children around the world. In partnership with local organizations, GCD Kenya restores hope and self-confidence by empowering at risk youth, orphans, and street children. Great Community Development in Kenya works with local Kenyan non-profit organizations and together, we've established and financially supported multiple children's homes and other projects in areas such as Siaya, Kano, Kisumu, Ugenya, Kisii County, Kenya; and Uriri (Migori County, Kenya; in partnership with Great Foundation Fellowship Ministries of Kenya), both villages in the rural western Nyanza Province and Nairobi Capital city of Kenya. The children GCDK rescues immediately move from a life of drug addiction, starvation, and homelessness to one of hope and opportunity. Every child goes to school, sleeps in his or her own bed, eats three healthy meals per day, lives a healthy and sober life, and is happy. Most importantly, they learn skills that prepare them for a fulfilling and successful life after school. GCDK also hosts volunteers from around the world to come to rural Kenya. Volunteers have many choices for their program but all visitors are immersed in local culture. Volunteer projects fall under one or more of the following categories: education, health, and community development. GCDK, founded by Mr. Fredrick O. Ouma, Mr. Joseph O. Omollo in 2017, also strives to build not only long-lasting, but environmentally sustainable infrastructure on the ground. This may include vegetable farms, the use of solar energy, the presence of livestock, and more. Not only does this practice help the environment, environmental sustainability is closely correlated with financial sustainability and the long-term goals for GCDK. GCDK is fully committed to complete transparency regarding projects, financial information, and allocation of funds.

Best Regards

Mr. Fredrick O. Ouma

Africa Projects Manager & Senior Event Coordinator.
