You called Rick a coward for calling our Father ? what the hell does that mean ? The only coward in this.

I called Rick a coward for hiding behind Alice and telling lies about his family, - and for calling his father up to trick him into saying it's ok for Rick and "Rick's family" to shack up in Dad's house without permission. That's one reason I called him a coward. The other is he is to chicken-shit to pick up the phone and talk. He is a COWARD! Fortunately the phone conversation he had was taped - so Rick can't lie in court, which he has already repeatedly done.

No wait, that's right, Rick just called dad for the first time in many years, which was coincidentally the day of his father had to evict him, I'm sure to tell Dad how much he loves and respects him and how he appreciated everything Dad did for him - to thank him for all the support Rick received from his father and his brothers in his profession. Sorry Mike, I must have lost my head there for a minute. I'll call and apologize. You think he will pick up the phone?

Also, I am three weeks sober. How 'bout you?
